Board of Instructions.

We would most respectfully call the attention of the public to the Faculty of our College. All are permanent Professors and Teachers; and a more commanding array, as to number and talent, cannot be found at the head of any similar Institution, North or South. In this respect we challenge competition, and appeal to every individual patron of the Institution to gainsay, if he can, the above statements. We are happy to inform the public that no material change will take place in the Faculty for the ensuing year.

Mrs. H. P. JUDGE, formerly Miss DENTON, will be retained in the chair which she has occupied so efficiently for eleven years. Prof. J. J. JUDGE of high experience will also be added to the Faculty, at the opening of the next Scholastic Year.

The M. E. Church South is making an effort to purchase the College, but if successful, it will cause no change in the plan and arrangement for the ensuing year.

BOARDING.

The Proprietors are prepared to board one hundred pupil—furnishing all with large, commodious, and well-ventilated rooms. Besides the College boarding-house, there are many private families in the community who accommodate pupils with boarding, viz: Mrs. Dr. Hill, Dr. N. N. Smith, Col. J. M. Beall, Maj. George Heard, Mr. Thomas B. Greenwood, James Bradfield, Dr R. A. T. Ridley, Albert Cox, Esq., Mr. Thomas Thornton, Wiley Simms, Col. Culberson, &c., &c.

TO THOSE WISHING TEACHERS.

In the present graduating class there are a half dozen young ladies who have pursued their education with a view of becoming Teachers. Any person desiring a teacher, either for a family or academy, will do well to apply to the proprietors, who can procure for them teachers among those graduates, capable of giving thorough instruction in all the English branches, Latin, French and Italian Languages, Music, Drawing, Painting &c., &c. None need apply, however, who are unwilling to pay a reasonable compensation for the most efficient services in the capacity of teacher.

Pupils entering at the opening of the term, or within two weeks thereafter, will be charged for the year; nor will any deduction be made for absence, except for providential causes.

It will be expected of those entering their daughters or wards, to pay one half of the aggregate expenses in advance. When this is not practicable or convenient, a promissory note for the same will suffice. Every pupil must furnish her own lights. This rule will be strictly enforced.

Five dollars, at the commencement of the session, is required from each pupil, to be entered as a credit on her account for books and stationery.

SESSIONS AND VACATIONS.

The next session, consisting of nine and a half consecutive months, will commence on the first day of October, and close on Wednesday after the 1st Sabbath in July following. The Wednesday after the 1st Sabbath is Commencement Day, and on the five days immediately preceding the 1st Sabbath will be held the public Annual Examination of all the classes. The Anniversary of the Alumnae Society will take place on Thursday after Commencement.

PROMPTNESS.

There is no enterprise in life in which this virtue is more highly necessary than in the prosecution of learning. Pupils who enter late are compelled either to lose a year or be dragged for a year by those who would have possessed no advantages over them if all had taken an equal start. In view, therefore, of this consideration, we cannot too strongly urge our patrons to send in the pupils on the very first day of the term.

In this connection, we cannot too severely denounce the practice of visiting home frequently during the term. It were as impossible to make scholars of such, as for a farmer to reap a harvest when the year has been broken in upon by trips of pleasure, &c., while his crop was being choked by the weeds.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

A good constitution is all-important for any and all of the purposes and employments of life. A delicate and refined system of Gymnastics, in the form of Callisthenics, has been introduced into this Institution, and so arranged as that it at once forms a part and parcel of our entire plan of education. To make this exercise more efficient, and to inspire the pupil with sufficient fondness for it, it is conducted in connection with appropriate music.

HENTZ AND JUDSON SOCIETIES.

These two rival literary associations were formed early in 1852, and have already given an unmistakable earnest of what they are destined ultimately to accomplish. It is too much the case, that literary reading is regarded as of little importance to the student in his scientific researches. Reading during the process of scholastic training is peculiarly necessary to the accomplishment of female education. With a view to meet these necessities and exigencies, these societies were organized. They each have a regular constitution and code of by-laws, appropriate officers, &c., and conduct all of their business matters with order and decorum. They meet for the transaction of business on every Saturday morning, at which time each member is required, under penalty, to stand up and recite the substance of at least fifty pages of literature, as the acquisitions of the week. They are allowed Wednesday afternoons for reading in their respective halls.

They have already collected a Library of books from the most approved authors of ancient and modern times, to the extent of nearly two thousand volumes. The wise of the country will limit this as a most valuable auxiliary to female education. The improvement which now exhibits itself in the style of conversation and writing, on the part of our pupils, speaks volumes for the efficiency of these organizations.

A WORD TO PATRONS AND THE PUBLIC.

While we claim no preference solely on the ground that we have made a much greater outlay, for facilities and accommodations, than any other similar Institution South, yet, other things being equal, we would respectfully urge that a generous public ought to extend to us a liberal portion of its patronage.

This appeal is entitled to additional consideration when the fact is taken into the account, that the proprietors alone have all the burden of pecuniary, educational and personal responsibility. Thus far, the founders and proprietors cannot complain of the patronage extended by the public. Even during the past term, amid the embarrassments of the country, this College has been sustained by a patronage far exceeding the expectations of its friends; and it is hoped that this renewed and extraordinary evidence of public favor will not abate during the ensuing session.

One other fact is offered, by way of strengthening the appeal already made; and that is, in order to sustain fully the reputation of the College, we are compelled to employ the very best teachers in the country—and such teachers command high salaries—so that the expenses in this direction are enormous.

If, then, after twelve years of trial, this Institution has proven itself meritorious, we earnestly solicit the assistance of every man and woman who can feel a brother's care and a brother's responsibility.

The health of all the members of the College has been excellent throughout the whole year. Under all the circumstances, may we not calculate on an increased patronage for the next year? May we not hope that our personal friends and patrons will exert their influence in support of the Institution?

So mote it be!
